Using IYS Data

Program Planning & Evaluation

School-level data can be used to create new programs, track outcomes, and improve & understand program effectiveness. Additionally, this data can be used to guide instruction for classes such as Health or Physical Education.

Network/district data can be used to implement youth prevention education curricula and communication campaigns.

Staff Support & Training

IYS data can also be used to target staff trainings on prevention strategies related to increased health behaviors. CRPD provides prevention strategies and training resources to all schools. This data can also be used in board meetings and as evaluation tools in decision-making.

Grants & Funding

IYS data is a great resource when applying for grants and funding. These include but aren't limited to Drug Free Communities, Substance Use Prevention Programs, and Partnerships for Success.
